SEVERAL SUNFISH SIGHTINGS

There have been several sunfish sightings in the Waitpinga cliffs/Encounter Bay area recently. Both Elizabeth Steele-Collins and The Big Duck Boat Tours reported sightings in early June. Elizabeth was able to take lots of photos of a large sunfish below the cliffs of her Waitpinga home. Details can be found at <http://mlssa.org.au/2018/06/08/sunfish-sightings-in-the-encounter-bay-waitpinga-cliffs-area-updated-version/> . Meanwhile, PT Hirschfield's photo of a sunfish at Nusa Lembongan featured on page 64 of the July issue of Dive Log, as part of the Pink Tank Scuba column. Check it out at www.dive-log.net.au . Video footage about a code of conduct for diving with manta rays and sunfish in Bali can be viewed at <https://www.facebook.com/AquaMarineDivingBali/videos/1679745562110519/> .

DEBRIS WASHING UP ON NSW BEACHES THREATENS MARINE LIFE

Shipping containers that had spilled from a ship have caused debris to be washed up on New South Wales beaches. The incident will have set back any recent efforts to rid our oceans of plastic and other pollutants. Hundreds of kilos of debris may affect whales, dolphins and other marine life. Volunteers have been clearing carloads of debris, including dozens of bags of plastic waste from their beaches. Some early footage of the incident can be found at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q8r8a8_GtG0 .

"SAVE OUR SEA" FACEBOOK GROUP

Paul Day has established a new Facebook group called "Save Our Sea". "Whether you are a fisherman or woman or someone who just likes to observe and wonder at the diverse life in our ocean, we are all bound by a desire to look after what we have been given. But our oceans are in peril, our fishes are at risk and all because of the rubbish and chemicals polluting our seas. Here is your chance to be part of the discussion. Join my new group "Save Our Sea" (at <https://www.facebook.com/groups/807959799394727/> .

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to the Dive Industry of Victoria Association on finally having received the official notification from Guinness World Records that they are the world record holder for the longest Chain of Scuba Divers (353 divers). Video footage of the successful record attempt can be found at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TcCcqb_XQhc&feature=youtu.be. (Warning – the footage includes some Victorian propaganda!)

Still on Victoria, congratulations to Safeguarding Stingrays for winning a Victorian State Government Coastal Award (awarded on World Oceans Day). The group was a co-recipient of the Victorian Coastal Award 2018 for the Planning and Management Category. According to the web page found at <https://www.change.org/p/stop-the-senseless-slaughter-of-rays/u/22853498> , "This award recognises the powerful outcomes achieved so far in safeguarding the rays of Victoria that had previously been subject to so much senseless slaughter. Please be inspired by what has been achieved to date to continue to advocate for the welfare of rays and other marine life in your own local regions and beyond."

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY HONOURS

Congratulations to Emma Johnston, Dean of Science, University of NSW for being appointed as an AO for services to higher education, particularly marine ecology and ecotoxicology. Emma said that researching how humans and pollution change the ocean is depressing, but she's determined to find solutions.

Congratulations to Christine Milne for being awarded an AO for her contributions to the protection and preservation of the natural environment.

Congratulations also to Dene Cordes on being awarded an OAM for service to conservation and the environment.

SHIPWRECK NEWS

The Australian Historic Shipwreck Preservation Project has been awarded a large Australian Research Council Linkage grant to investigate the excavation, reburial and in-situ preservation of wrecks and their associated artefacts, which are considered to be at risk. This project will focus on the 1850 wreck the Clarence, a historically significant colonial wooden trading vessel located near St Leonards in Port Phillip Bay, Victoria.

The Spanish galleon San Jose sank off the coast of Colombia laden with gold 310 years ago. The galleon went down in 1708 with 600 people on board, plus gold, silver and emeralds, during a battle with British ships in the War of Spanish Succession. The wreck was found by the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution three years ago. Further details can be found at <http://www.abc.net.au/news/2018-05-23/experts-disclose-new-details-about-300-year-old-shipwreck/9791128> . These details include some photos and video footage. Further details can be found in the July issue of our Scuba Dive SA Bulletin.

TOBRUK SCUTTLED AS A DIVE WRECK

The ex-HMAS Tobruk was scuttled as a dive wreck in Queensland's Great Sandy Marine Park on Friday 29th June. Tobruk was scuttled 25nm north of Hervey Bay & Fraser Island, 22nm east of Bundaberg. Video footage of her going down can be found at <https://www.facebook.com/amanda.sykes.1002/videos/10156753364233755/> . Four dive operators have been announced to conduct tours of the Tobruk. They are Lady Musgrave Experience, Bundaberg Aqua Scuba, Dive Hervey Bay and Hervey Bay Dive Centre. Private and club divers will also be able to book two-hour time slots for the site. A 500m exclusion zone has been placed enforced around the vessel. According to the web page found at <https://www.npsr.qld.gov.au/parks/great-sandy-marine/> , "The Great Sandy Marine Park extends from Baffle Creek in the north to Double Island Point in the south. It includes Hervey Bay, Great Sandy Strait, Tin Can Bay Inlet and the waters off the east coast of Fraser Island, seaward to three nautical miles."

3D MAPPING TECHNOLOGY USED TO LOCATE SHIPWRECKS

According to the web page found at <http://www.adelaidenow.com.au/news/south-australia/beaumont-case-grave-finding-technology-used-to-locate-shipwrecks/news-story/37bf579d61a6e5d7ba1cb3af25b2b6b6>, Dr Ian Moffat, a research fellow in archaeological science at Flinders University has been mapping around the underwater wreck of the barge Crowie in the Murray River. 60TH ANNIVERSARY OF SEA HUNT

The 60th anniversary of the "Sea Hunt" TV series was celebrated in California last month. "Sea Hunt" ran for 4 years from 1958. NAUI Worldwide held several events alongside the annual Scuba Show in Long Beach from 22nd to 24th June to celebrate the series.

OTHER ANNIVERSARIES

13 YEARS AGO, the ex-HMAS Brisbane was scuttled off of Queensland's Sunshine Coast to become an artificial reef and dive site on 31st July 2005. We have a 19-minute-long DVD titled "Australian Warships Scuttled as Dive Wrecks" available for loan. It features footage of the scuttling of the ex-HMAS Brisbane several times (5) from different angles. The underwater footage includes that of a dive on the wreck shortly after the scuttling.

Information is given about the other Australian warships scuttled as dive wrecks. Let us know if you want to receive a loan copy of this DVD and we will arrange for it to be mailed out to you.

SA's first settlers arrived at Kangaroo Island on the Duke of York on 27th July 1836.

The 919-ton, 3-masted, wooden-built (teak) emigrant ship Marion struck the outer edge of Troubridge Shoal (at a location now named Marion Reef) in the evening of 29th July 1851.

The coastal steamer Casino capsized in heavy seas in Apollo Bay on 10th July 1932.

130 YEARS AGO, the Star of Greece sank off of Port Willunga on 13th July 1888. The anniversary is being celebrated with several events being held in Aldinga and Port Willunga around the 13th July.

42 YEARS AGO, the Ulonga sank near Normanville in July 1976. Further details regarding the Ulonga can be found in the July issue of our Scuba Dive SA Bulletin.

Greenpeace's first Rainbow Warrior ship was blown-up whilst docked in Auckland harbour in New Zealand on 10th July 1985. The ship was being prepared for a protest voyage to Moruroa Atoll over French nuclear testing. French Secret Service agents planted two bombs on the ship.

2nd June was the first anniversary of the death of Jack O'Neill. Jack's wetsuits popularized cold-water surfing. He died in California, aged 94, in 2017.

8th June was the first anniversary of when the giant facemask sculpture at Port Noarlunga jetty was unveiled on 8th June (World Oceans Day) 2017.

One year ago, a Southern Right Whale visited the inside of the reef at Port Noarlunga in June 2017.

Also one year ago, Pacific Dive opened its doors and took its first customer for a dive on the SS President Coolidge in 2017.

CLOSED SEASON FOR ROCK LOBSTER

SHOP NEWS

Congratulations to The Dive Shack on being awarded this year's SA AUP Industry Excellence Award (Australian Underwater Products) for the second straight year. The awards were presented at the Opal Cove Resort at Coffs Harbour.

The Scuba Clinic will be closed on Fridays for the months of July, August and September. As usual, turnaround times for equipment service will not take any longer. The Clinic will also be closing during the month of August for their usual annual leave break...more details to follow. The cooler months are a better time to get your equipment serviced ready for the next diving season. Remember, beat the rush over summer and service now!

Sam Bennett is the new Assistant Manager at Reef 2 Ridge. Sam is a CDAA Advanced Cave Diver and TDI Instructor. He has been diving since 2009 and has been teaching since 2014.

MICROSOFT HAS SUNK A DATA CENTRE OFF ORKNEY

A data centre has been sunk in the sea off Orkney by Microsoft. According to the web page found at <https://www.bbc.com/news/technology-44368813>, "Microsoft has sunk a data centre in the sea off Orkney to investigate whether it can boost energy efficiency. The data centre, a white cylinder containing computers, could sit on the sea floor for up to five years. An undersea cable brings the data centre power and takes its data to the shore and the wider internet - but if the computers onboard break, they cannot be repaired. Orkney was chosen because it is a major centre for renewable energy research. The theory is that the cost of cooling the computers will be cut by placing them underwater." "With no people, all the oxygen and most of the water vapour can be taken out of the atmosphere which reduces corrosion, which is a significant problem in data centres. Microsoft envisages sinking groups of five of these cylinders and being able to deploy a data centre offshore in 90 days, whereas it could take years on land."

KI FERRY

According to the web page found at <http://www.adelaidenow.com.au/business/sa-business-journal/ki-connect-ferry-service-launches-after-many-months-delay-at-cape-jervis/news-story/31d71a88d0876e723aefc2f0beb09f0b>, Kangaroo Island's second ferry service, the $1.6m catamaran James Cowell was due to open for business on Friday 1st June after months of delay.

SHARK WEEK RETURNS IN JULY

According to the web page found at <https://www.discovery.com/tv-shows/shark-week/>, "Shark Week Returns July 22nd - Shark Week 2018, the 30th instalment of the annual franchise, will kick off Sunday, July 22, with eight days of shark-centric specials."

MARINE MAMMAL SYMPOSIUM IN ADELAIDE

The Marine Mammal Symposium is being held in Adelaide in July this year, in conjunction with the AMSA 2018 conference. It is being held from 1st-5th July 2018 at the Adelaide Convention Centre. The Symposium theme is "From Sea to Coast - Marine Mammals in a Connected World". It “recognises that marine mammals are covering large areas of the marine environment and connect various habitats throughout their lives. Their migratory behaviour often poses great challenges to study these animals and albeit their often-iconic character, knowledge about their whereabouts is still limited. They are exposed to a range of challenges including impacts from anthropogenic activities such as shipping, fishing, exploration, pollution and climate change but have also found ways of adapting to impacts. New techniques are being used to shed light on the migration, adaptation and behaviour of marine mammals such as seals, sea lions, orcas, southern right and humpback whales in Australian waters setting worldwide standards. Visit www.amsa18.amsa.asn.au/ for more details.
